Dorina is a great colleague to work with.

A strong, flexible personality combined with great analysis skills brings specs up to the point making the life of the developer as smooth as possible.

She has the ability to prepare things in a way that not only ease development but contributes to the testing efforts afterwards.

She is a team player and always willing to help in every situation.

It was really fun working with her.

I worked with Dorina on an extranet project, where she was the business analyst and me the architect.

I found the approach of Dorina original and efficient to put order in the business requirements, find generic and reusable patterns and drive the requirement workshops to conclusions.

I believe Dorina is well prepared to manage complex tasks and to handle work pressure.

From our collaboration at European Commission I can insure that Dorina have a huge theoretical background and can applied it very quickly, she is well organized, have very good analytical skills, writes clear specifications, can prepare and perform the acceptance testing of an applications and not the less: you can trust her to follow the project from begin to successful end.

- Luigi Belli

Project Manager, Author, Trainer

December 21, 2011, Dorina was senior to Luigi but didn't manage directly

Dorina is a brilliant analyst, open-minded and very well organized.

Her commitment at identifying exact business requirements and to follow-up stakeholders regularly are some of the skills she masters and which I have appreciated most when we had the pleasure to working together.

She was always present and ready to discuss with the team the various aspects of the project (from development issues to acceptance and deployment), and she helped out at dealing with some managerial issues applying well-known methodologies and with the needed flexibility.

As part of my responsibilities at the European Commission DG RTD, I required an understanding of certain systems and processes operational at that time. Dorina was the functional expert for this area. She was approachable, knowledgable and able to quickly tailor her explanation of complex business processes to my context.

She was of great assistance during technical studies for which I was responsible, providing business and functional background.

I would be very happy to work with Dorina again and am glad to take this opportunity to recommend her work.
